

Born in captivity

A small sign of hope in the living
hell of Nauru Detention Camp

In the last three years, several thousand vulnerable young parents and their little children, orphaned teenage boys, and distraught men separated from their families, have spent years in the living hell of Nauru, Christmas Island and the remote desert detention camps on mainland Australia.

Frightened and despairing, in needlessly cruel conditions, these families will in many cases never recover the damage they have suffered to body and mind. Some have even died from lack of proper care. This has been the blackest time in Australia's modern history. And its time for it to stop.

Please vote for the kind of Australia you can once again be proud of.
